Plane Party Overdue At Saskatchewan Base Fliers Unreported Since Sunday North Of Prince Albert

With No Word Received From Pilot W. Broach, Belief Is Expressed He Brought His Seaplane and His Five Fellow Fliers Down on Northern Lake to Escape Unfavorable Weather

Canadian Press

Prince Albert, Sask., Sept. 1.—The northland to-day held the secret of the whereabouts of an airplane party of six, including T. C. Davis, M.P.P. for Prince Albert and former Attorney-General of Saskatchewan. The plane has been overdue at Waskesiu Lake air base in Prince Albert National Park since Sunday afternoon.

No great alarm is felt, however, as it is believed the pilot, Bill Broach, probably landed his party on one of the northern lakes to avoid a storm.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER.—The plane may have been marooned by the winds, fog and rain which from Sunday till this morning enveloped the north. A search plane set out yesterday, but was turned back by a wall of fog a few miles north of the air base.

The serial party left early Sunday afternoon for Lac la Ronge and the plane was last seen Sunday afternoon as it was winging its way homeward. In the party which flew north were Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Davis, W. L. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Brooks. Mr. Brooks is head of the Brooks Transportation Company, under contract with the provincial government to patrol the northern forests.

SIR HALL CAINE TOMB PLANNED AT CASTLE SITE

Interment at Isle of Man Ruins Suggested; Novelist Died Yesterday Evening

Canadian Press

London, Sept. 1.—A proposal is under consideration for the interment of the remains of Sir Hall Caine in the ruins of St. Germain's Castle. That castle is on the little island which also holds Peel Castle, and is the most historic spot of the Isle of Man.

Hall Caine drew a vivid picture in his novel, "The Devenish," of the Bishop of Man consigning his son to that dungeon. For that book, his earliest pronounced success, he received an outright fee of $750. For his last novel he received $90,000 for book rights alone.

DIED AT HOME.—Douglas, Isle of Man, Sept. 1.—Sir Hall Caine, famed novelist, once described as the wealthiest writer in the world, died at 10.55 yesterday evening after an illness of several weeks. He was seventy-eight years old.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS RESCUED

Wellington, N.Z., Sept. 1.—Three students who were lost in a blizzard on Mount Ruapehu were rescued, and four others in the party were located. A searching force of 200 men to-day was working to bring them in. The students were members of a party from Auckland University who ascended the mountain slopes Saturday and missed their way in the storm.

ECONOMY PLEA BEFORE TRADE BOARD MEETING

Wasteful Expenditure War Motion Before Canadian Commerce Chamber

Suggested Canada Have Commissioner Like Geddes Or Davies Commission

Recommendations for cuts in expenditures by federal and provincial governments so that the general rate for a reduction in taxation in Canada may be secured without impairing the efficiency of government departments will be discussed at the Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention in Regina next week.

Information of the business coming before the convention, at which Victoria will be represented by P. H. Warren, secretary of the Victoria Chamber.

EXPERT EXAMINATION

The reaction relating to taxation urged by all public bodies spending money raised by taxation or otherwise, suggests expert examination by general bodies of government expenditures with the object of eliminating wasteful expenditures of public money. It says a determined effort should be made by federal, provincial and municipal governments to secure reliable information which would enable and justify the elimination of unnecessary expenditures. The resolution concludes with the suggestion that the Dominion Government adopt the plan of either the British Government or the U.S. Government in its appointment of the Geddes commission or the Davies commission for the purpose of ascertaining where wasteful expenditure might be avoided.

TRANS-CANADIAN HIGHWAY

A resolution to be presented to the convention by the Toronto Board of Trade reads satisfaction with the decision of the Dominion Government to proceed with the construction of the trans-canadian highway and expresses the hope the project will be proceeded with as vigorously as possible in order that the greatest measure of relief may be given to the need and be benefited of the trans-canadian highway in eastern Canada may be derived at the earliest possible date.

McLAGLEN OF SCREEN FLIES HERE TO-DAY

Famous "He-man" of Hollywood Makes Recreational Flight From Seattle

Star Had Desire to Revisit City He Passed Through Quarter of Century Ago

Victor McLaglen, the he-man of motion pictures, dropped into town from the skies to-day, "just to look Victoria over." The famous Fox movie star, accompanied by Lionel Bowles, the well-known racehorse owner of the Coast, flew here from Seattle in the monoplane 45TH, piloted by Charlie Rector, described by McLaglen as the "best looking and most skillful pilot" he has ever had the pleasure of riding with aloft.

"This city is becoming well advertised in the Hollywood movie colony so thought I would like to make a little recreational trip here," declared McLaglen after he and Bowles had registered at the Empress Hotel shortly after the noon hour.

HERE TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

He spoke of the number of prominent movie people who have visited Victoria and Vancouver Island during the last few months and explained that the last time he was in this city was twenty-five years ago when he was bound from Seattle to the Orient.

McLaglen is one of the most popular stars in the talkies, although he never had any great ambition to become an actor. He still regrets at times that he didn't continue his career as a boxer.

McLaglen said he was on his way to Spokane to participate in the opening of the new Fox Theatre there. He explained that he first visited British Columbia when he left his native Britain as a boy of eighteen over a quarter of a century ago.

Relief Works for the Unemployment Situation

Represented on the delegation which was considered this morning by the public works committee of the City Council in special session was the chairmanship of Alderman J. L. Mara. Other members present were Mayor Anson and Aldermen Robert Smith and John Worthington, with F. M. Preston, city engineer, also in attendance. It is understood that Mayor Anson will call a meeting of the City Council within the next few days to consider the recommendations of the public works committee.

PROJECTS CONSIDERED

City relief projects, including waterworks, sewers, surface drains and roads, were tentatively approved for half an hour this morning by the committee.

The city is anxious to find out just what proportion the government is prepared to contribute towards unemployment relief before estimates can be made on the amount that will fall upon the municipality.

The fact that the government is being approached by a delegation of the Union of B.C. Municipalities to-morrow, relative to the terms under which cities of the province will be compensated for improvements undertaken as relief measures, may have had something to do with the hurry nature of the committee's deliberations to-day.

The city, it is understood, will be represented on the delegation which will interview the cabinet to-morrow.

MANY NEED WORK

The city is bound to go ahead with its relief programme in the immediate future in view of the major problem which it is facing with 600 real men.

Wind Spreading Forest Fire in South Alberta

Blairmore, Alta., Sept. 1.—A wind to-day was fanning the forest fire in the York Creek area, southwest of Blairmore, spreading the flames in all directions. Reports indicated the conflagration was far from being under control.

All available men had been rushed to the scene, but their efforts had proved futile against the driving wind. It is believed the York Creek outbreak was caused by sparks from the fires around Corbin, B.C., which are now under control.

Fires to-day also were reported burning in the Starr Creek and Crow's Nest districts.

One Brother of Dominican Order Swims Ashore After Boat Capsizes

Canadian Press

Earley, Que., Sept. 1.—Five members of the Dominican Order of the Roman Catholic Church, vacationing at the summer camp of the order here, lost their lives in a boating accident in the Ottawa River this morning.

The rowboat in which they were crossing the river capsized when it was caught in a heavy swell. With one exception, all were residents of Quebec province.

ONE SWIMS ASHORE

The one occupant of the ill-fated craft who was able to swim, Rev. Brother Curteminche, managed to save his own life. After freeing himself from the upturned boat, he was unable to swim ashore, reaching safety in an exhausted condition.

The priests were crossing from the summer camp to the village of Baskin's Landing, on the Ontario shore of the stream. They were to have gone to Ottawa to-day.

OUTBOARD MOTOR CRAFT

When the party started out from the Quebec shore, a fairly stiff wind was blowing.

Howard McMann, When Testing Motorcycle, Collides With Automobile

A trial run on a motor cycle which he was overhauling with a companion brought serious injuries to Howard McMann, seventeen, 322 Stannard Avenue, at 7.30 yesterday evening. Howard is suffering from injuries to the right side, possible internal injuries, cuts, bruises and an injured right arm.

He collided at Stannard Avenue and Brook Street with an automobile driven by F. C. Holden, 305 Pemberton Building.

With Arthur Fields, seventeen, 123 Cambridge Street, the owner of the motorcycle, the injured lad had been putting it in running condition. It had no lights. After they had it in running order Howard decided to give it a trial and crashed into the motor car, according to the report made to the police.

CITIES STILL PRESSING FOR RELIEF PLANS

Union of B.C. Delegates Coming Wednesday to Seek Definite Word

Unemployed Will Also Seek Interview Asking For Immediate Aid

To bring more emphasis on the claim of municipalities for a definite understanding as to the terms under which cities will be compensated for improvements undertaken for the relief of unemployed, further delegations will call upon the cabinet this week.

With citizens in urgent need of help beseeching city leaders throughout the province for work, no word yet has come from the provincial government which will justify the municipalities embarking on public works programmes with a knowledge of what proportion of expenditure the provincial and Dominion governments will contribute.

SEEK MORE AID

Municipalities, protesting the problem of unemployment in the main is the responsibility of the provincial and Dominion governments, have expressed the opinion that the proportion of one-third is more than they should be called upon to contribute and seek an improvement over the previous arrangement. They will ask materials be included in the expenditures shared by the two governments. Delegates from the Union of British Columbia Municipalities have an appointment to meet the cabinet to-morrow. Hon. R. W. Bruhn, however, will not be present as he left yesterday evening to attend a meeting of representatives of the four western provinces in Regina. The conference is for the purpose of co-ordinating the sale of emergency work to be carried out in the west and to guard against the trek of unemployed from one province to another.

FOR RNACE

Vancouver, Sept. 1.—The certificate of Capt. E. Mabbs of the Canadian National Steamship Prince David, which grounded in a dense fog off Point Wilson on the way from Victoria to Seattle on July 31, was suspended for three months by Capt. J. D. MacPherson, deputy wreck commissioner, at a heated conclusion to the accident investigation this morning.

"A more reckless piece of navigation I have never before come across," asserted Capt. MacPherson in abruptly bringing the inquiry to a close. "If we go on dealing with these cases leniently they will develop into a farce. Such accidents must be stopped."

When the ship struck rock bottom off Point Wilson it was nearly two miles off its course, according to the evidence. Capt. MacPherson maintained that the ship should have been stopped at once on the first sighting of the fog horn which baffled the ship's officers; that the ship should not have been travelling in a fog at the rate of nearly twenty knots, and that the second officer should have stayed with the atmosphere for measuring the depth of water instead of going up on deck to help his fellow officers locate the Point Wilson fog horn.

Capt. Mabbs contended that if the fog horn had not been changed without their knowledge the mishap would not have occurred. He said it was a regular practice for ships to maintain their speed in known waters through a fog, and that their steering was considered perfectly safe on the basis of their course.

Turning to the Point Wilson fog horn, Capt. Mabbs said it had been changed without their knowledge. He said it was a regular practice for ships to maintain their speed in known waters through a fog, and that their steering was considered perfectly safe on the basis of their course.

Edmonds, B.C., Sept. 1.—Proposals that the Dominion government advance to municipalities credits for relief work at a low rate of interest, and that federal authorities draft regulations under which such work may be financed were made at a meeting of the Burnaby municipal council yesterday evening when the whole relief problem was under review.

Reeve W. A. Pritchard was instructed to place these proposals before provincial authorities when he visits Victoria on Wednesday with the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities. In the meantime Burnaby will take no action on proposed relief measures.

Municipal Engineer John Davidson submitted to the council a list of suggested public works estimated at $1,500,795.

MacDonald Is Mentioned As Ambassador To U.S.

Posts Said To Await Him When He Ceases To Be Cabinet Head

India Round-table Conference and League of Nations Discussed as Other Fields for MacDonald's Services After Coming Session of Parliament; He Will Not Again Be Candidate for Commons, Say Friends

Associated Press

London, Sept. 1.—Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald and Rt. Hon. "Jim" Thomas have been hounded from the labor organizations to which they devoted most of their lives, but few observers believe either will be driven from British public life.

There are too many big jobs to be done after the present financial crisis is solved, it is felt, for them to retire—the Prime Minister to his Scottish village to write a biography of John Knox, something he has been trying to do for years, or the Dominions Secretary to his tireless and pipe.

Mr. MacDonald's active parliamentary life will be ended with the coming session of Parliament, according to those who know him well. He is not likely to stand for re-election, but it is held the nation will continue to do for years, or the Dominions Secretary to his tireless and pipe.

GERMAN FLIERS ON LAST LAP OF LONG TRIP

Gronau Plane Heads For Chicago After Halt at Long Lake, Ontario

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Sept. 1.—On the last lap of a Germany-to-Chicago flight, Wolfgang von Gronau and his mechanics hopped off to-day from Long Lake, isolated little railway junction, in northwestern Ontario, for the Illinois city, 600 miles due south.

According to word received by the Canadian National telegraph, von Gronau and his three mates headed their seaplane south at 12.30 p.m. E.S.T. (9.30 a.m. Victoria time).

The crew of the twin-motored plane consisted of von Gronau, captain, E. Zimmer, co-pilot, F. Albrecht, wireless operator, and F. Hack, mechanic. With Chicago given as the plane's immediate destination, the fliers were expected to be known until instructions are received on arrival there. To-day's hop-off had been delayed until orders were received from Chicago.

Before leaving Long Lake, 150 miles northeast of Port Harrison, Que., far up the St. Lawrence river, the fliers had spent some time at the Long Lake Hotel, where they had been waiting for orders from Chicago.

LEHMAN TAKES LEAD IN U.S. AMATEUR GOLF

Chicago Star Scores Par-breaking 70 To-day For 36-Hole Total of 148

Johnny Shields, Seattle, Has 151; Dr. O. F. Willing Ruins His Chances

Bevely Country Club, Chicago, Sept. 1.—With the first day's leaders finding trouble and all the veterans still fighting with disaster, Johnny Lehman, Chicago, shot a par-breaking 70 to-day for a thirty-six-hole total of 148, and took a one-stroke lead in qualifying battle of the United States amateur golf championship.

Lehman shot birdies on the first and seventh holes for a par on the outgoing nine, and coming back made sensational approach shots dead to the pin to score successive birdies at the thirteenth and fourteenth.

Dr. Oscar F. Willing, Portland, Ore., former finalist and Walker cup apparently shot away his chances of qualifying by scoring 79 for his second round, making a thirty-six hole total of 159.

Willing's companion, George Voigt, New York, who was a finalist in 1927, with a 77 and a total of 155 that looked safe enough, though close to the border line.

Voigt and Willing started the second round in a downpour of rain, and finished their tour of the soggy links in muggy weather, with the sun breaking through.

The Portland dentist made a game attempt to salvage his first round of 80, but lost valuable strokes on two short holes, the sixth and the seventh, where his tee shots plunged into traps half filled with water. At the long eighteenth, Willing, with two inches of holding an eighty-yard pitch shot for an eagle three and tapped his ball in for his only birdie.

Shields does well. Johnny Shields, Seattle, added a 76 to his first round of 73 for a total of 151.

Watts Gunn, Pittsburgh, runner up to Bobby Jones in 1925, blew himself quickly out of the picture, taking a third round of 90, and a total of 161, concluding his tour of the links.

Veterans Are Told of Sweepstake Dangers

Frederick Perry Beats Vines In Tennis Feature

Philadelphia, Sept. 1.—Frederick Perry of England to-day defeated Billy Vines, United States, in the feature match of the International Round Robin tennis tournament at the Germantown Cricket Club. The scores were 6-3, 7-5.

George P. (Patsy) Hughes of England had no trouble in winning the opening tennis match in the three-day tournament. He defeated Marcel Bernard, seventeen-year-old French player, 6-4, 6-0.

Speaking frankly, Lt.-Col. Lafleche said the interest of war veterans would not be safeguarded, as it was possible they could be, until the passing of the Canadian Legion, delivered a considered message to the annual Dominion convention of the Legion here this forenoon.

The question of sweepstakes, said Col. Lafleche, was a thorny one. Since they were illegal, the Canadian Legion had chosen the path of self-denial, and sweepstakes were allowed to jeopardize the work of the Legion in taking care of disabled and needy veterans.

Stating the interest of veterans were safe under the pension system now in effect, he contended the big problem was one of administration, and pointed out that in many cases the applicant himself did not realize his responsibility for the preparation of his case.

He urged that before expressing an opinion as to the administration, critics ought to be sure they were on safe ground. He thought 1931 was not a propitious year in which to go to Parliament on matters which required a large amount of money.

The economic depression, he went on, had revealed the fact that while the Legion was doing wonderful work with respect to pensions, medical treatment and other matters, it had not concentrated sufficiently on the economic rehabilitation of war veterans, and he commended this subject to the consideration of all branches and commands.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 1.—Stressing the importance of achieving complete unity of all veteran bodies in Canada, and pointing out the dangers which might attend the sponsoring of sweepstakes as a means of financing operations of the organization, Lt.-Col. L. B. Lafleche, immediate past president of the Canadian Legion, delivered a considered message to the annual Dominion convention of the Legion here this forenoon.

Three Men Held in Saskatchewan; Police Tell of Wide Field of Operations

Canadian Press

Regina, Sept. 1.—Investigation of what is believed to be a province-wide system of horse stealing is under way in Saskatchewan following the arrest of three men in the Elbow district by Royal Canadian Mounted Police yesterday.

Discovery of a well-hidden corral containing horses alleged to have been stolen from all parts of the province led to the arrest of the three men, Eugene W. Jacobs and Joseph N. Jacobs of the Elbow district and Gordon Mallory of the Elbow district. Some of the horses recovered are said to have been stolen from points as far distant as Saskatoon and Prince Albert.

Police say investigations so far disclose that operations have been conducted on a large scale for some time. A motor truck was used to bring in stolen horses from the more distant points, while steeds stolen nearby are said to have been ridden to the corral.

The corral was well sheltered by natural looking brush and timber, in places where the ground was hard enough to hold 100 head of stock.

LEAGUE COUNCIL STARTS SESSION

Geneva, Sept. 1.—Delegates to the sixty-fourth session of the Council of the League of Nations fulfilled the general expectation to-day by postponing until to-morrow after a brief session, at which only comparatively unimportant matters were considered.

They accepted an offer by the government of Brazil for establishment at Rio de Janeiro of an international center for leprosy research to be supported by Brazil.

Meeting concurrently with the Council, the co-ordinating committee of the European Committee continued its private discussions of proposals for European economic relief.

The chief topic of conversation outside the Council was the expected verdict on the Austro-German customs union. It was believed the decision had not yet been communicated to Geneva and that probably no announcement regarding it would be made here until to-morrow.

The Austrian delegates said there was no foundation for reports that Dr. Johann Schober, their chief, would anticipate the verdict by publicly renouncing the customs accord project.

PLAN SHELVED. The opinion prevails in informed quarters that neither Germany nor Austria is in a position to push the project even if the decision should be in their favor. Observers took the stand the matter had been eliminated by force of circumstances.

ONTARIO HYDRO BOARD EXPLAINS $50,000 PAYMENT

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 1.—Payment of $50,000 to John Aird Jr. of Toronto by the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario was made in connection with the effecting of arrangements for the future electrical needs of the eastern Ontario system, which has no connection with the Niagara system, declared a letter to the Hamilton Hydro Commission from the provincial commission.

The letter was in reply to a resolution passed by the Hamilton board, asking for further light on the payment said to have been made as a commission for services in the purchase of power rights in the Madawaska River by the hydro from the O'Brien interests of Ottawa.

The provincial commission declared in its letter that neither the power users represented by the Hamilton commission nor any others outside the eastern district were in any way affected.

Sir Edward M. Edgar Tells Receiver How He Became Bankrupt

Canadian Press
London, Sept. 1.—Sixteen proofs of debt totaling $40,000 had been filed against Sir Edward Mackay Edgar, native of Montreal, who was prominent in London financial circles until a few years ago, it was stated by the official receiver when Sir Edward attended the first meeting of his creditors at a bankruptcy hearing today.

Sir Edward, however, had filed his own petition and had been adjudged bankrupt. In preliminary examination Sir Edward estimated his unsecured liabilities at approximately $80,000, owing to forty creditors.

His only assets, he said, were his property, jewelry and plate, worth between $2,500 and $3,000, and debentures in the Denham Golf Club to the value of $1,000.

Before 1915 he acted as a director of Breweries and Distillers of Vancouver, and of two other companies. In 1928, Sir Edward said, with another person he formed a limited company with nominal capital of $500 to carry on business as financial agents and advisers. They became joint directors, but the firm transacted little or no business and ceased to function not long after its establishment.

Sir Edward attributed his present position to having lived beyond his means, owing to non-receipt of benefits anticipated from contracts with certain companies in which he held options worth $250,000 two years ago. He did not realize these at the time, however, and they had now become, for the time being, valueless.

It was decided to leave affairs in the hands of the official receiver.

FINN'S SALARIES TO BE CUT

Helsinki, Finland, Sept. 1.—A proposal to reduce salaries of deputies by 10 per cent, those of married civil servants by 5 per cent, and those of unmarried civil servants by 10 per cent, has been presented to Parliament by the government. Authorities also propose to help agriculture by decreeing that a fixed percentage of home-grown grain be mixed with foreign rye, oats and barley.

Ex-King of Spain Varns Norwegians Against Communists

Associated Press
Oslo, Norway, Sept. 1.—Former King Alfonso of Spain, during a recent visit to a small Norwegian coast town, warned in a newspaper interview that someday the world will regret its tolerance of Russian communism.

"I noticed a Russian ship in the harbor," he remarked to the interviewer. "I hope you Norwegians are discreet enough not to allow the crew to come ashore."

"The Russians seem to me to be an important cause of the economic troubles which exist all over the world. I hope they keep to their present policies at least long enough to make civilized nations realize they cannot have any dealings with them."

Bernad Shaw had expressed sympathy with the Russians and that he would try to make his countrymen see the advantages of the Soviet system, but the former king expressed pity for "Old England" if the Soviet system ever were tried there.

As for his own country, he said: "Do you believe the deeply religious Spanish people would have looted and burnt their convents had there been no Russian influence at work?"

U.S. FARM BOARD IS CALLED LEMON

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1.—Assailing the United States Farm Board as a "bureaucratic lemon," Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania in an address here yesterday urged the farm industry "be placed on a basis of economic equality with other industries." He said the farmer, "for years the orphan of American politics, should be taken into the family and have a choice as to what type of relief should be attempted."

The present tariff, he charged, was detrimental to the farmer. He believed in the equalization fee, and thought the centurion plan "unquestionably has merit."

COMMERCE BOARDS ASKED TO SUPPORT PEACE RAIL PLAN

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 1.—A number of resolutions of national interest will be brought before the resolutions committee of the sixth annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Regina, September 7 to 10.

One of them has regard to the cost of government. It asks the Canadian government to adopt some plan to study where wasteful expenditures can be eliminated.

The general council of Peace River Boards of Trade asks completion of a railway from the Peace district to the B.C. coast.

The Terrace Board of Trade wishes unemployment insurance on a contributory basis established in Canada.

The Vancouver Board of Trade suggests negotiation of a few Canadian-New Zealand trade treaty and recommends an international monetary conference looking toward stabilization of silver.

Edmonton asks consideration of establishment of a Canadian market for barley and other grains to the exclusion of such grains now imported from other countries.

Increase and efficient air mail service is the request of the Halifax board.

One of the prairie boards wants farm credits organized while Winnipeg business men would like to see Canadian agricultural products advertised abroad and a more vigorous policy of practical research work pursued.

BIG AUSTRALIAN CONVERSION LOAN STATED SUCCESS

Melbourne, Australia, Sept. 1.—The Australian conversion loan of about $2,780,000,000 closed yesterday with the total conversions promised amounting to about $2,150,000,000, while several millions more are expected when late applications are computed.

It is figured 97 per cent of federal and state loans were thus voluntarily converted at a reduced rate of interest and satisfactory. Measures will be taken to compel non-converters to accept an equivalent sacrifice.

BELGIAN IS ON TRIAL IN ROME

Rome, Sept. 1.—Leo J. Moulin, young Belgian professor who was arrested here last April on charges of anti-Fascist activity, went to trial today before a special tribunal for defence of the state.

He acknowledged he had brought with him from Belgium a trunk with letters and papers having to do with information gathered in Italy for friends, but disavowed any intention of engaging in activities offensive to the Italian government.

One of the friends for whom he was gathering information, he said, was Giovanni Bassanini, the anti-Fascist aviator who flew from Switzerland a year ago to drop propaganda over Milan.

BIG BANK ROBBERY IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Sept. 1.—Three robbers took over the affairs of a Security First National Bank branch here for four hours yesterday, but they relinquished their job after K. I. Davis, bank manager, had come down to work at 5 a.m. and opened the vault. The robbers took $52,000 and escaped. It was Los Angeles's largest bank robbery.

Murder and Looting At Chittagong, India

Chittagong, India, Sept. 1.—An infuriated Moslem mob stormed, looted and burned a large Hindu shop here today in a riot following the trial of a Hindu youth.

The police inspector, Khan Bahadur Ashrafulla, was shot as he was congratulating a football team on winning a cup.

Chinese Killed By
Seattle Filipinos

Seattle, Sept. 1.—One Chinese was killed and four badly injured when a mob of about fifty Filipinos descended on a Chinese store here yesterday evening and swarmed over the place, brandishing knives and wielding clubs.

Lee Jim, forty-five, died soon after he had been taken to the City Hospital. He was stabbed over the heart. Detectives started an investigation of the melee, believed the outbreak to be a long smouldering south end gambling feud. Only two of the slaying victims were arrested, swinging night sticks, responded to riot calls sounded at headquarters.

Lady Caine and her two sons, Ralph Hall Caine and Derwent Hall Caine, Attorney-General Moore of the Isle of Man and Dr. Marshall, his physician and life-long friend, were at the bedside when the end came in Grebra Castle, one of the finest residences on the island.

Written by Cosmo Hamilton for the Associated Press

Taunton, Mass., Sept. 1.—I most deeply regret the death of Sir Hall Caine. He was a man of spotless reputation, great kindness and a rigidly preserved dignity which has weakened a little among us since the passing of other great Victorian figures.

In spite of the fact that it was the habit of the less widely read and therefore jealous authors to ridicule him for his picturesque and romantic personality and habitat, he was the Rembrandt of Victorian fiction.

NEVER AT LOW LEVEL

He used a large and noble canvas for his story, dealt highly with the simple serious problems of life and never pandered to the lower instincts of his enormous public.

Sir Hall Caine always aimed above the belt. He was a craftsman among whom are Kipling, Barrie, Hardy and Meredith.

Hall Caine pursued his chosen path with extreme courage and rectitude, and it is vastly to his credit that he surmounted the snobishness of his period and swept aside the titters of the intellectuals led by Max Beerbohm, the criticism of the critics of The Spectator and all the rest of the little clever people of those incredible days.

He had the instinct of a poet for the right word, the feeling of an artist for color and design and the sense of a musician for rhythm and melody. He believed and had the courage to say he believed in God, thereby proving his intelligence and invulnerability.

Derided, laughed at and condemned because of some of his early literary efforts, Sir Hall Caine attained success the equal of which few authors could boast. His English-speaking public on both sides of the Atlantic was larger than that of most writers and novel readers generally were eager for his latest work.

With a considerable leaning toward the eternal triangle, critics declared some of his plots crude and the results usually clumsy when, on rare occasions, he attempted to introduce a humorous passage. Nevertheless, Sir Hall gave ample evidence of his ability for fluent, graphic writing.

It would seem that Sir Hall always had in mind a dual surprise for his work—to please the reading public and then present the same subject dramatized so it would appeal to theatre-goers. Many of his book successes attained even greater popularity when presented on the stage.

In 1907 he was declared by the manager of the Lyceum Theatre, London, to be the wealthiest novelist in the world. His theatrical royalties from North America and Great Britain up to that time amounted to $450,000, the manager revealed, and it was said the sales of his novels had produced an even larger income.

BORN IN CHESHIRE

Hall Caine was born May 24, 1839, at Runcorn, Cheshire, of mixed Manx and Cumberland parentage. At an early age he went to live with relatives on the Isle of Man, where his boyhood, spent in a condition of poverty, considerably influenced his imaginative writings in later years.

His foster parents eventually sent him to Liverpool with the idea of making him an architect and he was educated with that object in view. He never practiced that profession, however, turning to journalistic work on completing his studies, when he became a leader writer on the staff of The Liverpool Mercury.

More newspaper writing became so unsatisfactory to Hall Caine that it is related he petitioned for shorter working hours and a reduction in salary so he might devote more time to novel writing. After six years in Liverpool he went to London on the invitation of D. G. Rossetti, with whom he lived and acted as secretary and companion to the poet-painter until the latter's death.

Sir Hall was married and had two sons. One of them, Derwent Hall Caine, became an actor of note and was in the leading roles of many of his father's dramatic works.

ATTRACTED ATTENTION IN 1862

The first writings of Sir Hall to attract attention were "Sonnets of Three Centuries" and "Recollections of Rossetti," both published in 1862, and followed a year later by "Life of Coleridge" and "Cobwebs of Criticism."

For nearly fifty years thereafter he produced novels and plays, many of the latter being dramatized versions of his books. One of his early successes was "The Deemster," a story of early life on the Isle of Man. Increased popularity and greater success attended the publication of "The Manxman."

These and a few others firmly established the reputation of Sir Hall and made the foundation for his fortune. He acquired Grebra Castle, one of the finest residences on the Isle of Man, and for some years sat in the House of Keys, the Manx parliament.

The native Manx population, especially those whose insular pride and prejudice had not been swamped by the annual levitation of excursionists from the rest of Britain, did not appreciate the advertising the island received from Hall Caine's writings. They were inclined to reproach him for his portrayal of his principal Manx heroine as a fallen woman, and another character as a canting humbug.

SHOWN ON SCREEN

Others of Sir Hall's better known works include "The Christian," "The Eternal City," "The Prodigal Son," "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," "The Bondman," "The Scapelo," "The White Prophet," and "The Master of Men."

He wrote "Darby and Joan," as an original film story and in action "The Christian," "The Manxman" and "The Prodigal Son" were filmed in Great Britain, while "The Eternal City," "The Deemster," "The Christian" and "The Woman Thou Gavest Me" were shown on the screen in Canada and the United States.

In recognition of his services as editor of the war book of Albert, King of the Belgians, Sir Hall was made an officer of the Order of Leopold. He was created a Knight in the 1918 Birthday list of honors of King George for his efforts to present the British aspect of the war to United States readers.

During the war he devoted himself almost exclusively to British propaganda in the United States, writing many articles which were published in a syndicate of newspapers.

He also prepared, at the request of the British Government, the scenario of the official national war film.

Non-aggression Pact of Soviet At Geneva Session

Geneva, Sept. 1.—The Soviet proposal for an economic non-aggression pact was presented here yesterday by Maxim Litvinov, Russian Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, to his colleagues of the Pan-European Commission's co-ordinating committee, and obtained "in principle" a favorable reception.

The committee referred the scheme to a sub-committee, which will seek to return it in a modified form acceptable to the spokesmen of the European states.

Litvinov's project, therefore, will be given further consideration by the co-ordinating committee before that body drafts its general programme for alleviating the European economic situation. This programme is to be submitted to the full European union commission at a session beginning Thursday.

The Soviet non-aggression scheme conforms to the spirit of German policy, which works for an economic pacification of Europe simultaneously with political pacification, said Julius Curtius, German Foreign Minister.

But, as in a country that appears flat from an airplane, said Andre Francois-Poncet, French delegate, "chasm and stubborn peaks begin to be evident" in the non-aggression project.

The Soviet Commissioner described his scheme as a negative corollary to a "most favored clause," guaranteeing the signatories against special discrimination in the economic field.

Meanwhile, a report of economic experts advocated "the widest possible collaboration of the nations of Europe in the sense of making Europe a single market for the products of any and every country in it."

New Use For Reserve Funds Of Companies Urged

Canadian Press
Windsor, Ont., Sept. 1.—Support of a plan for a one-year moratorium on mortgage principal payments will be sought by Windsor representatives at the meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association in Toronto the latter part of this week.

Windsor and East Windsor will join in support of a resolution urging the federal and provincial governments to confiscate thirty-five per cent of the reserves of large companies and use the amount to aid employees the firms have laid off.

Other resolutions to be presented by the two municipalities call for the federal government to assume all costs of keeping Immigration Department prisoners; for 25 per cent of the net fines resulting from provincial police activities to be paid to the municipalities; and for an amendment to the Assessment Act so that business taxes may be collected from estates of defunct firms.

Japan Has Unique Method of Dealing With Unemployment

Rather Than Pension Employees They Are Kept Working, Says G. W. Muddiman

Japan has its own way of dealing with the unemployment problem, according to George W. Muddiman, of Vancouver, manager of the Elk River Timber Co., who passed through Victoria, Sunday on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, after a business trip to Japan.

"Japanese offices and business places seem to the visitor to be tremendously overstaffed," Mr. Muddiman said, "but there is a reason for this. In Japan it is customary for an employer on dismissing an employee to make him a retiring allowance which continues after the worker has left the firm."

"Japanese business men believe world conditions will improve though their industries, particularly silk, are now in a slump. Yet if they discharge workers they must pay their retirement allowance anyway so they keep them working. That is why vast numbers of clerks swarm around banks and offices in Japan while the companies which pay their salaries, wait for better times."

Aside from this peculiar situation, however, the island kingdom is weathering the depression in good style. Mr. Muddiman stated, the agricultural strength of the country providing a livelihood for the people.

SIGHTSEEING MEN THANK COUNCIL

Five Major Firms Appreciate New Amendment On Soliciting One Hundred Drivers Anxious to Co-operate in Enforcing the Law

The thanks of five large taxi and sightseeing companies in Victoria, which employ 100 drivers and have assets of half a million dollars, are conveyed to the City Council in a letter which was received at the City Hall today as a result of a recent amendment to the Victoria Traffic By-law dealing with solicitation of visitors by sightseeing men.

The letter is signed by Harold Hubbard, of the Empire Taxi and Sightseeing Co. Limited; H. L. Bengtson, of the Veteran Sightseeing and Transportation Co.; H. E. Caldwell, of the C. & C. Taxi Company; F. Morris Hale, of the United Taxi Service, and R. S. McPhee of the White Owl Taxi.

The letter is as follows: "In connection with the recent amendment to Victoria Traffic By-law dealing with solicitation of visitors to Victoria by sightseeing men, and with a letter received this week by the City Council charging discrimination by the City Police."

"We, the undersigned, represent all the major sightseeing, taxi cab and limousine interests in the City of Victoria and between us employ many thousands of dollars per year in advertising to bring tourists to Victoria. Until the passage of the present amendment regulating soliciting on the city streets, these tourists were molested by solicitors for three or four companies, and in many cases became disgusted at being annoyed excessively by numerous solicitors and did not take any ride at all.

"Our combined companies represent upwards of twenty-five buses and seventy-five small cars, with assets of nearly half a million dollars, and we believe the by-law prohibiting solicitation for sightseeing passengers, except on private property, to be good legislation, and we heartily endorse it, and will lend our every support to its enforcement."

"The amendment as passed shows no discrimination and allows any and all companies to solicit on their own property."

"The Police Department are showing no discrimination in the enforcement of this amendment and are treating all companies alike. In regard to those solicitors who are not obeying the by-law, it is expected that these will be apprehended and fined to the extent provided by law."

"Large party conductors and tourists are already coming on the improvement in the manner of their first impressions of Victoria, and state that there is a feeling of relief at not being constantly annoyed by solicitors."

"We wish to thank the Mayor, the Police Commission and the Chief of Police for their understanding of the situation, and for the action which they have taken to assure them that the 100 drivers and operators of our staffs will co-operate in every way."

HISTORIC WALLS BEING REBUILT IN NOVA SCOTIA

People Now See Some of Parts of Old Forts at Louisbourg

Sydney, N.S., Sept. 1.—The sturdy foundations of Louisbourg, once called the Dunkirk of America, on which Louis XIV expended millions to make it a great French stronghold in North America, are slowly emerging again from the grassy grounds that have hidden them for the past century. Agitation resulted three years ago in a decision partially to restore the fortress, which is annually the mecca for hundreds of U.S. tourists.

From New England once captured the fort in 1745 and assisted in its second capture in 1758. The last work being carried on under the auspices of the Canadian Historical Commission, with the result that to-day many of the original forms are to be seen.

Several of the old streets of the fortified town have been re-excavated by surveyors from the charts obtained from Paris and Ottawa. The Rue d'Orleans has been surfaced from the Rue St. Louis to the east gate, and a bridge thrown over the moat at the latter point so the old French and English military cemeteries can be easily reached.

RELICS FOUND

The roof of the bombproof casemates at the southern end of the King Bastion has been skillfully repaired with concrete, preserving perfectly the old French masonry effects. The gateway between the chapel and barracks has also been opened. Already 300 valuable relics have been unearthed and are being housed in a temporary museum until a permanent fireproof one is available.

At the citadel the southern wall of the barracks, the King's chapel, and the governor's house and office have been exposed. In excavating the latter every care was taken to protect the tomb of Duc d'Anville, who died at Halifax during the disastrous expedition against the English and whose body was later removed to Louisbourg for burial. The basement excavation is slow work, but already the walls of the hospital are showing for a distance of about three and one-half feet, and the arches of the dooms and windows of the basement stories can be seen in several places about the fortress.

When the British sappers and miners undertook to destroy Louisbourg in 1758, in accordance with orders from England, they blew down the upper works and buildings, creating a mass of debris which in turn was covered with drifting earth, then grass, until eventually nothing but huge green mounds were visible. Years ago antiquarians discovered that beneath these hillocks existed intact that greater part of the massive walls and streets of the old military fortress.

able, even if possible, to restore the full fortifications. What is proposed is to restore a little at a time of the principal gates, bastions and other works sufficient to show the strength and extent of the place at its greatest period in history.

Ottawa has complete copies of the original plans and specifications made by Vauban, the celebrated military engineer back in the seventeenth century. These are accurate in every detail—so much so that modern engineers can locate exactly by instrument the site of any desired gate or wall.

When the excavations are complete, the showplace of the fortress will be the big hospital. It may seem curious to modern people to know that in Louisbourg nearly two centuries ago there existed a hospital of 104 beds, besides private wards, with hot and cold running water on every floor, and many other conveniences which are usually thought to be of quite recent invention.

DISTRICT KING'S DAUGHTERS AID SICK AND NEEDY

Plans for Winter Relief Work Made at Meeting Yesterday; Donations Made

Plans for their winter work, which will include much relief work for the sick and needy, were made by the King's Daughters at their district meeting yesterday, the first after the long vacation. Mrs. L. H. Hardie, district president, presided at the meeting which was held in the rest room, Hibben Building.

Donations of $25 to the Sunshine Camp at Saanichton and of $10 to the Social Service League for the assistance of a special case were voted. The proceeds of the tag day held in July, and amounting to $237, will be devoted entirely to the order's relief work this winter.

Mrs. James Stewart reported for the rest room activities during the summer, and the report of the King's Daughters Hospital at Duncan was given by Mrs. E. A. Playfair.

Plans were made for a supper meeting to be held in the rest room on September 11, when Miss Margaret Ross, provincial president, will give her report of the Dominion convention held in Fredericton, N.B. Tentative arrangements were also made for a rummage sale in October.

St. Andrew's Guild—The Women's Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their meeting yesterday afternoon when plans were made for the winter work. Among other activities arranged, a rummage sale will be held early in October. At the close of the meeting a dainty tea was served and a social hour enjoyed.

WOMEN ARE SHOWING MORE WORK AT FAIR THAN EVER

Larger Number of Entries in This Section; Women's Institutes Well Represented; "Thrifty" Class and Work of Women Over 70 Years Noteworthy

It takes more than mere business depression and so-called hard times to keep a busy woman down. At least that is the impression one gains at the Provincial Exhibition at the Willows, where the exhibits in the women's building are more numerous than ever. According to Mrs. A. Darius-Hodder, who is in charge of this building, some classes, which drew only five or six entries last year, have more than tripled this year, similar increases being noted in every section.

INSTITUTES REPRESENTED
As in previous years the Women's Institutes have rallied splendidly to support of the fair. Mrs. J. L. White, president of the Victoria Women's Institute, to whom was assigned the collection and arrangement of the institute exhibits, states that members from institutes throughout the province are represented in the very comprehensive exhibit including Victoria, Creston and District, Lynn Valley, Hanes, Hazelmore, Denman Island, Otter Point, Sooke and North Sooke, Nelson, Fraser Lake, Appleton and Riverside.

B.C. WOOL COMFORTERS
An interesting feature of this section is the competition for a special prize presented by the B.C. Woolstaple for the best wool comforter made with their wool. Among the many very attractive entries in this class is one made by the Victoria W.I. Of blue silk, stitched in gold, the quilt is a veritable monument to the patience of the maker. The wool was carded by the women then enclosed in the cover, which is worked, entirely by hand, in an intricate pattern in gold thread, an adaptation of the Prince of Wales feathers and a diamond design being worked out with meticulous care and wonderful stitching. Equally fine work, but in a less elaborate design is seen in each of the entries in this interesting exhibit, which was designed to assist the "buy B.C. goods" campaign.

Some exquisite examples of pillow case have been sent in by institute women, some of a cobwebby fineness and delicacy of pattern fit for a princess to wear. The handicraft section is also well worthy a visit, the ingenious and industry of the women being represented in a variety of ways, including some most realistic flowers made of paper, basket and raffia work, beaded, crocheted, Gesso work and other craftwork.

OVER SEVENTY YEARS OLD
Veteran needlewomen of seventy years of age and over have a section to themselves, and their entries show that the attainment of the three-score year and ten milestone has found them with their sight unimpaired and their fingers lacking none of their former nimbleness. Judging by the fineness of the work entered in this class, Cobwebby tatting, beautiful embroidery and very fine crochet work is entered by these venerable competitors—an example worthy of emulation by the younger generation.

THRIFT CLASS
Reflecting the spirit of the times is the "thrifty class," a new section in which deft needlewomen have transformed prosaic floor sacks into dainty garments, embroidered tea-cloths and quilts, and other charming accessories. In the same section is shown most attractive looking hooked and woven rugs which had their origin in old silk stockings, old vests, rags and similar discarded articles. Mothers faced with the problem of making ends meet will also find suggestions for economy in the section devoted to made-over garments, much ingenuity being shown in the process of transformation.

British Columbia Wool and Textile Industries Council, which has been formed to promote the sale of wool and textile products, has a large part in the women's section. Comforters, socks, sweaters and other articles are shown in the woolen section, while in the textile section are displayed articles for evening wear, neckties, muffs and footmuffs, motor rugs and other useful articles are cleverly fashioned from the skins of rabbits as well as from the fur of wild animals, and made up by the exhibitors.

HANDICRAFTS GUILD
The Victoria Handicrafts Guild shows some interesting pieces of pottery, leather work, fur garments and woolen novelties, and the wool textile section is being spun by Mrs. T. H. Arnold and Mrs. Simmonds is from local-grown sheep.

The domestic science section is as popular as ever. Clever cooks have sent in dainty samples of home-made bread, pies, cakes, preserved fruits and meats and vegetables, and other samples of the culinary art. Children's work is also shown in the such sections as home economics and domestic science, the former including some very creditable specimens of plain and fancy sewing, while the latter little cooks have entered dainty samples of bread, cakes, biscuits, jams and jellies.

FIRST AID ROOM
The first aid room is tucked away in a corner of the women's building, in quarters which leave much to be desired in the way of suitability. The St. John's Ambulance Society and the Victorian Order of Nurses are assisting in this very necessary adjunct to the public welfare, and it seems unfortunate that the agencies of space have relegated them to their present very meagre quarters.

Purple Star Social—Victoria Purple Star Lodge will hold a social evening on Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, when the Right Worshipful Grand Mistress, Sister Bucke and other visitors from the Naanalo Lodge will be present for the purpose of presenting the traveling Bible to Purple Star. It is hoped that there will be a good attendance of members. Gifts of flowers will be appreciated. All officers of local lodge are requested to wear regalia.

CELEBRATING FIFTY YEARS OF WEDDED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cullin Receiving Many Congratulations To-day
Ex-Alderman and Wife Married in Toronto in September, 1881

Surrounded by their children, grandchildren and a host of friends in Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cullin of 144 Wellington Avenue, celebrated to-day the golden anniversary of their wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Cullin are receiving sincere and hearty congratulations, while many handsome gifts also express in a tangible manner the esteem in which they are held by their numerous friends and acquaintances in Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Cullin were made the recipients of a purse of gold by the members of their family.

On this memorable occasion, they have with them the four children of their family, two sons, Mr. William Martin Cullin of Vancouver and Mr. Albert E. Cullin of Seattle, with their respective wives, two daughters, Mrs. G. C. Cullin of Victoria and Mrs. Ella M. Surphill of Victoria, and their grandchildren, the Misses Velman and Beth Cullin and Mr. James Edward Cullin of Vancouver, Mr. William and Miss Dorothy Cullin of Seattle, Miss Eleanor and Mr. Alec Cudlip of Victoria and Mr. Richard Surphill of Victoria.

BORN IN TORONTO
Both Mr. and Mrs. Cullin, who were formerly Mary Martin, were born in Toronto, Ontario, where they were married on the first day of September in 1881 by Rev. John M. Cameron of King Street Presbyterian Church. Shortly after the wedding they left for Winnipeg, where at that time Mr. Cullin was employed in the job department of the Winnipeg Free Press.

After a residence of seven years in the prairie city, the call of the west proved too strong for them, and in 1887 Mr. and Mrs. Cullin journeyed to Victoria, and have made their home here ever since.

For some time, Mr. Cullin was employed as foreman of the newsroom of the Victoria Daily Colonist, after which he joined the staff of the government printing office, where he remained until 1914, when he was promoted to the position of compositor, then chief clerk, finally arriving at the position of "King's Printer" when he succeeded the late R. Wolfenden in the year 1914. This position Mr. Cullin held until 1924, when he was retired on superannuation.

WAS ALDERMAN
Mr. Cullin has always taken an active interest in the affairs of the city and has served on the City Council as alderman for periods of time, making a total of four years. Mrs. Cullin, whose main interest has been her home, has also given her support and help to charitable institutions in Victoria.

An interested guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cullin was Mrs. M. A. Cullin of Victoria, mother of Mr. W. H. Cullin, and one of the nonagenarians of Vancouver Island, who is her ninety-first year. During the reception this afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Cullin, who will also receive again this evening received the felicitous wishes of many guests, who gathered under a lighted canopy of golden flowers from which was suspended a golden wedding bell, all bespeaking the happy occasion. A table with a glass was filled with yellow cornucopia, while scones held in place tall lighted candles, adorned with golden icing and surmounted with a cupid holding aloft a large wedding ring, all in the dining-room, decorated in serving, Eleanor Cudlip of Victoria, Velma and Beth Cudlip of Vancouver and Dorothy Cullin of Seattle.

Women's Guild Resumes Work After Holidays

A very well attended meeting of the women's guild of the First United Church, the first since the holiday season, was held in the church parlor yesterday afternoon. Mrs. A. S. Christie in the chair. The impressive devotional opening was led by Mrs. S. E. Smith. Prior to the ordinary business a resolution of sympathy was recorded to the former pastor of the church and his wife, Rev. J. G. Inkster and Mrs. Inkster of Toronto, in the death of their eldest daughter, Miss Elizabeth. The meeting was sympathetic to the relatives of Mr. W. Felsted, who recently passed away.

The treasurer's report by Mrs. G. D. Brown showed a satisfactory balance. Miss Watson was thanked for her beautiful pulpit floral decorations recently. The members were all pleased to learn that J. O. Brown will in the near future give a series of four lectures on subjects of great interest connected with his recent trip to Europe. It was decided that no bazaar would be given this year to raise funds, but that a social rally would be held instead, and that at the next monthly meeting tea and light refreshments would be served. Miss MacAllen will be convener for this, assisted by Mrs. D. Fair and others.

The meeting closed with the repetition of the Marzha Benediction.

Prosperity in B.C. Depends on HOW You Spend

A 50 cent purchase of B.C. Products does not seem important, but a 50 cent purchase by every family in B.C. is 75 thousand dollars.

... and that is not all. $75,000.00 spent for B.C. Products goes into the pay envelopes of people who spend it again... for B.C. Products.

Like a merchant's stock, the oftener it is "turned over" the more we profit.

There is plenty of money in British Columbia if we keep it circulating here where it will fill B.C. Pay Envelopes.

Ask for B.C. Products and give your money a chance to come back to you.

Orphanage To Hold Pound Day September 23

The Protestant Orphans' Home will hold its annual "pound party" at the institution on Wednesday, September 23, when donations of any description, suitable for use in the home, will be most gratefully welcomed.

This was among the matters of business arranged at yesterday's meeting of the ladies' committee, Mrs. C. H. Walker presiding, and the following ladies being present: Mesdames Longstaffe, Elliott, Hughes, E. M. Brown, Calvert, Dorman, Shepherd, O. M. Brown, Raper, Fraser, Sherwood, Grimison Dillabough, Dinmore—and Miss Newbury.

Thirty-five children are all ready for school after a very enjoyable vacation. During July and Mr. J. E. Semmes up Uplands entertained the children to a garden party at their home when nothing was left undone to make the afternoon and evening a most enjoyable party. The committee was proud to hear that one of the girls, Ruth Haynes, gained first prize in the Colonial competition on "What I have seen during my holidays."

Visiting ladies for September, Mr. Fraser and Mrs. Hughes. Donations gratefully acknowledged include: Mrs. F. Raper, vegetables; Mrs. Balfour, clothing; Mrs. Handley, two boxes peaches; Mr. B. Genesee, two boxes apples; Police Department, two boxes peaches; Mrs. W. Niblock, twelve jars jam; Columbia W.A., three gallons milk; Rennie & Taylor, Golden Loaf Bakery, McLean's Bakery, bunns; Mr. McKenna, three salmon; A. Friend, cake and sandwiches; Mrs. F. V. Longstaffe, clothing; McCormicks, biscuits; Mrs. Farley, box pears; Barbers' Union, hair

Here's New Way of Removing Hair Without Bristly Regrowth

Method So Many Women Are Asking About

A WAY has been found that experts say probably comes closer to solving the arm and leg hair problem for women than anything known before.

It resembles a beauty dip in appearance. You simply spread it on the surface where the hair is to be removed, let it remain a few moments and then rinse off with water. That is all. Every sign of hair is gone completely. Quite different from the razor and old ways. No coarsened regrowth; no stubble. You can obtain it now at any of our goods counter for a few cents. The name is NEET—Cream Hair Remover. Women are flocking to it.

SHE WORRIED ABOUT HER WEIGHT

"I started taking Kruschen salt a month ago. I have lost five pounds weight, and I feel as if I have lost 25 pounds. I am full of vigor, whereas before I was listless and worried about little things. But I am thankful to it that, were my troubles doubled, the would not worry me to-day—thanks Kruschen."—Miss V. P.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat-take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen salt in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the daily dose that takes of the fat."—Don't miss a morning. Kruschen daily means that every particle of poisonous waste matter—and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

Modify your diet, and take gentle exercise. The stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are tuned up, and the pure, fresh blood containing these six salts is carried to every part of the body, and this is followed by that Kruschen feeling of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

MAY CHALLENGE LADY ASTOR, M.P.

Independent Conservative May Run Against Her in Next Election

London, Sept. 1.—Nancy Lady Astor, first woman to take a seat in the British Parliament, may be threatened with an Independent-Conservative challenge from her constituency at the next general election.

An advertisement in the personal column of one of to-day's London newspapers announces that a "gentleman of Plymouth conscientiously believing that the present parliamentary representative from the Sutton division should be opposed at the next election, would like to communicate with a gentleman who would be willing to oppose the present member as an Independent Conservative candidate."

Lady Astor was elected in 1919 and ran away with the race at each subsequent election except in 1929 when she had a plurality of only 211 votes over the Labor candidate.

WIDOW OF T. P. O'CONNOR DIES

Native of Texas; Was President of London Women Journalists' Society

London, Sept. 1.—Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, widow of "Tay Pay" O'Connor, noted Irish leader, died to-day in a nursing home of pneumonia after a short illness.

She was born in Austin, Tex., the daughter of Supreme Court Justice George W. Paschall. She married O'Connor in 1885. She was the author of several books and plays and president of the London Society of Women Journalists.

LADY READING AT OLD STAND

Resumes Secretarial Duties When Husband Called Back From Honeymoon

London, Sept. 1.—Lady Reading is back at her old stand as secretary to her husband.

She told The London Daily Herald that she and Lord Reading, former Viceroy of India, had cut short their honeymoon in Paris when he was called to become the foreign secretary of the new national government.

Lord Lady Reading, the former Stella Charaud, was a member of Reading's staff in India for five years and returned to London as his secretary in personal and official matters. He is seventy years and she is thirty-five, and they were married August 6.

The following donations were received by F. Landsberg, local treasurer of the Save the Children and Near East Relief Funds for the month of August, 1931: Miss M. C. Moulie, £1; Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle, £10; "E. J." £1. Further donations will be gratefully acknowledged by Mr. Landsberg at 787 Port Street.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Midred will be glad to answer questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

WORK WITH NATURE FOR BEST RESULTS

In training a baby for cleanly toilet habits the mother should not set arbitrary times, but should try to take advantage of the natural hours which baby sets for himself. Working with nature is always more successful than working against it.

Mrs. P. S. writes that she has had much information from my column. She continues, "I usually find my questions answered before I have had time to write and even ask them."

DAILY SCHEDULE

Here is my schedule for the day. Waking at 6.00 a.m. Exercises and play, 6.30 to 8.00. Sleeps between 8 and 9 a.m. After that I give her half-ounce of orange juice. At 9.30 she has a bath.

At 10 a.m. one teaspoon of cereal followed by a nursing. Nursing again at 11 p.m. followed by a two-hour nap. Then an airing from 4.30 to 5 p.m. with cereal and a nursing, and to bed at next morning.

REGULARIZING TOILET HABITS

"Do you think she should have a 10 p.m. feeding? She no longer wakes for it."

"How can I train my baby for regular bowel habits? Sometimes her bowels will move regularly for several days and again they will move at a different time of day. I am trying to train her, and it is very hard when the movements come at different times."

CHAPTER XII

The problem of Olive's attitude toward his mother remained for the moment unsolved. Liane went dutifully to lunch with the old lady on the day of the fire. Outwardly there was no ruffling of the calm, but the young girl sensed a resentment so deep her patron could not bring herself to speak of it. And yet, Liane thought, Olive had been in the right. His mother had spoken to him as he went the vest-pocket boy. "Be a knave," reflected the young girl shrewdly, "but she must have her respect at least for years in matters large and small and now, at twenty-four, was coming to see that he could not do as he pleased."

"It doesn't matter to me," thought Liane rather wistfully. "I'm her guest, her protégé, and naturally I must respect all her wishes. But for a man grown to knock under and do exactly as she commands him—that would be shameful."

Yes, Liane respected Olive more now than she had seen him "stand up" to his mother.

If Mrs. Cleopatra's white head was held a trifle higher, if her tone that day, addressing the maids, grew sharper and more autocratic, her manner toward Liane at least was not affected.

"I like her but I see through her," thought Liane with affectionate amusement. She was what the girls at the convent had called "bossy." Business generally went to the head. The more one's underlings submitted to dictates the more one ordered them around.

"That boy's no fool," decided Liane, thinking of Olive, and wondered why Elsie had thought he was "He has a backbone." She liked him the better for it.

Liane saw little of the young man. Occasionally she had a glimpse of Olive in a turtle-necked sweater, in galloping down worn riding breeches, in the lane of a soft September morning. He would nod to her in a friendly yet distant manner, smiling at her soft hat in salutation. She would tramp through the fallen would change Muriel very greatly," Liane ventured.

The old lady looked solemn. "It changes us all, my dear," she said with gravity. "One takes on dignity, or rather, one should." She frowned as if in deep dissatisfaction tapping her morning newspaper. "Not that one would believe in dignity after reading the list of divorce cases these days, she added bitterly.

"Marriage means less than nothing, apparently," to the daughters of my friends," Mrs. Cleopatra sighed sharply. "If Olive should ever make such a mess of his life—really, I don't know what I should do!"

She frowned again. "But that's an unpleasant subject," she said, dismissing it. Looking at Liane, shrewdly and kindly she went on:

"You're very young, my dear, but somehow I think you would take marriage in a more serious way than most of the girls of my acquaintance."

"Oh, if I loved, I would be at once and forever," answered Liane, shining eyes, deep and long lashed, to the older woman. "I believe in lasting love, don't you?"

Mrs. Cleopatra regarded her with fondness. She said very firmly, "I certainly do. Not a doubt to it."

Neither of the two had heard a light step on the threshold of the study, room where they sat with the accounts. A vibrant voice with an undercurrent of mirth in it interrupted:

"Interesting to hear two women talking of love in the early hours."

Liane, startled, looked full into the deep-set eyes of Van Roberd. She gave one startled movement, tumbled her cheque book and the sheet of bills. Almost they fell into the fire from which the screen stood a little aside.

Van Roberd, still smiling, to retrieve them as Mrs. Cleopatra, not altogether pleased at the interruption, greeted him.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily And Jimmie the Duck

Uncle Wiggily sat on the front porch of his hollow stump bungalow looking toward the duck pond which he sometimes called his ocean as he once put salt in it just like the real ocean. And not only did Uncle Wiggily put salt in the duck pond ocean, but he had Mr. Whitehead, the jolly old Polar Bear gentleman, scold himself up and down in the pond to make waves, such as all oceans have.

"Well, it's nice to be home again," said Uncle Wiggily to his wife, who was sitting near him on the porch.

"Yes, I'm glad to have you back," said the rabbit lady. "You certainly had a wonderful adventure trip—up and Mr. Twisitt."

"Yes, indeed," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "But I am happy to be at home, with you, my dear," and he blew his rabbit wife a kiss from the tip of his paw.

"Thank you," said Mrs. Longears. "You are very polite and kind. I wonder," she went on, speaking slowly, and then she stopped talking completely and looking at the duck pond. "What's the matter?" asked Mr. Longears.

"The Wibblewobbles are up to some trick," said Uncle Wiggily as she was sometimes called.

"All ducks do it," her husband told her. "I suppose you children remember that Lulu, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble were cute little ducks. Jimmie was a regular big duck, his sister, Lulu, was a sort of a tomboy duck and could throw stones. But Alice was more romantic and could recite poetry when she wanted to, quacking it out very nicely."

"Just the same," went on Mrs. Longears, "I wish you'd go down to the pond and tell those ducks not to stand on their heads in water so long. They might not be able to get right-side up again. For now they are surely turned upside down."

"My dear duck children," said Uncle Wiggily, patient like and informative. "They stick their heads down in the mud to get at roots of water plants when they eat. But if you like, I'll tell them not to stand on their heads too long."

"Oh, it was nothing. But he was really rather knightly about it," said the young girl, dimpling at the recollection.

"Well, I said at the time and I say now Adele Ladd might've done worse with her daughter," declared Mrs. Cleopatra with relief. "From what one hears Muriel would be better off safely married than she is running about the country, heaven knows where, at all hours of the day or night."

"I somehow don't think marriage

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1931

Kindly stars rule this day, according to astrology. It is a time for strenuous effort in important matters.

This should be a lucky day under which to start ocean journeys and is fortunate for the navy, which will focus much attention this autumn.

The stars foretell a period for old producers, who come under a planetary government most promising for them.

BILLIE BURKE IN FINE ROLE

Will Be Seen at Royal Victoria End of September in "The Vinegar Tree"

Describing her husband as a sour old crabapple, sitting under the Vinegar Tree, Laura Merrick, the heroine of "The Vinegar Tree," Paul Osborn's sparkling and sophisticated comedy of Long Island society folk, gives the title to the play which brings Billie Burke to the Royal Victoria Theatre on Friday and Saturday, September 28 and 29. Never, it is said, has the charming and irrepressible red-headed idol of a million flappers, had a role which suited her so deftly. As the utterly foolish but perfectly adorable little wife who yearns for a gentleman who will feed her romance instead of platitudes, she fits through the play leaving a trail of laughter and enjoyment behind her.

Belasco and Curran, who had the courage to bring Miss Burke to the Coast have seen to it that her support was up to or even better than their usual standard. They have engaged such fine players as William Morris and Julie Dillon. Mail orders are now being filled and the seat sale will open in a few weeks.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Extraordinarily difficult camera work mapped out for Roland West's United Artists production, "The Bat Whispers," featuring Chester Morris, was handled by Ray June.

June has been in charge of the camera on a number of big productions. He photographed "Alibi" and "The Lottery Bride" among others. "The Bat Whispers," a thrilling comedy-drama, now showing at the Columbia Theatre is replete with effect shots and trick camera stunts.

The cast includes Una Merkel, Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Ben Bard, Grayce Hampton, Spencer Charters, Charles Dow Clark and Maude Eburne.

Children Need Vitamin "A"
Plays a Part as Anti-Infective Agent in Adults But Can't Help if Barriers are Passed
By DR. MORRIS FISHER

It is essential, of course, that the diet of the growing child contain plenty of vitamin A substances. Evidence has been accumulated which indicates that carotin, which is the yellow coloring matter in carrots and in other food has vitamin A properties. Vitamin A is not developed in the animal body, as is vitamin D, the rickets-preventing vitamin. Hence, it is necessary that products be chosen because of their richness in this substance. The liver fats of the salmon and the halibut are richer in vitamin A than is cod liver oil. The sheep, calf and cow Hens contain ten times as much vitamin A as does good cod liver oil, and 200 to 1,000 times more vitamin A than a good average sample of butter. Vitamin A seems, along with vitamin E, to bear some relationship to the ability of an animal to reproduce. Deficiencies of vitamin A are reflected in the chemistry of the blood. Quite recent investigations have shown the definite evidence that vitamin A does play a part as anti-infective agent. For that reason it is being advised for administration to women with puerperal fever and also for patients with scarlet fever. It has been suggested as of use in cases of chronic intestinal infection and even for chronic colds. The authority Cramer is convinced that there is no evidence that vitamin A can cure infections once the barrier of the mucous membranes has been passed, or that it can prevent or cure those infections which enter the blood or which get under the skin. He insists that it is a mistake to call vitamin A an anti-infective vitamin, just as it is a mistake to call it a growth promoting vitamin. The one correct fact about vitamin A is that it does have value in raising general body vigor, in increasing blood tone, or general resistance, a condition that is difficult to measure scientifically and rather hard for the average person to understand. Its effect is perhaps what used to be called tonic, except that the old term "tonic" has fallen into disrepute because of the manner in which it has been abused by proprietary interests.

Cleveland Opens Belated Rally to Lead Major Ball for Week

Chicago Cubs Display Great Offensive Power by Leading Scorers

Horse Racing Makes Successful Debut at Popular Willows Oval

Scores Are Unusually High in Annual City Golf Championship

ALTHOUGH it is too late for them to do anything about the pennant race proper, the Cleveland Indians have hit another winning streak that has carried them above the 500 mark and put them in position to make a belated try for third place in the American League baseball campaign. Roger Peckinpaugh's athletes were the only ones to maintain a perfect average last week, their five straight victories giving them a record of twelve triumphs in their last fifteen starts.

Their closest rivals for the week were the St. Louis Cardinals, who strengthened their hold on the top of the National League by winning six out of seven games. Led by their two star sluggers, Earl Averill and Eddie Morgan, the Indians pounded out forty-two hits during the week, good for sixty-four runs, while their own pitching staff yielded only fifteen runs in five games. Wes Ferrell and Mel Harder turned in brilliant performances, each holding the line for Browns to four hits and one run on successive days.

Despite the fact that the ace of aces, "Lefty" Grove, was defeated in his first start of the week, thereby failing to break the American League record for successive victories, and was knocked from the box by the Yankees in his second, the Philadelphia Athletics managed to compile the week's second best American League mark with five wins and two losses.

Bill McKechnie's Boston Braves suffered their most disastrous week of the year when they lost five straight to St. Louis, two of them in extra innings. As a result, they held fifth place in the National League by a scant game margin over the Cincinnati Reds. The Braves made only seven runs in five contests and committed eleven errors. The St. Louis Browns had an unhappy week, winning only two of their eight starts. Bill Killifer's crew displayed a woeful lack of punch, making only sixteen runs or an average of two per game.

Scoring fourteen runs in one game and eleven in the Chicago Cubs proved themselves the heaviest scorers for the week; they crossed the plate fifty-one times in nine games, while the New York Yankees posted forty-eight runs in seven contests. The Cubs also collected the most hits, eighty-five, compared to eighty-one for the Cards and eighty for the Yankees. The Athletics turned in the week's stiffest fielding record when they committed only two errors in seven engagements.

The Detroit Tigers went to the sixteenth game with fourteen errors in six contests. The Chicago White Sox pitching staff held their opponents to fewer runs than any in either league, allowing only thirteen in four games, but the Cards' mound corps hung up an even better average, their opponents scoring only nineteen times in seven games. The Athletics staff had a similar record, the Cubs doing the best in the matter of home runs for the period, collecting eleven, while their nearest rivals, the New York Giants, cranked nine.

Horse racing made its return here Saturday with the opening of the seven-day meet at the Willows track. The first day was a rousing success with everything going according to schedule. The broadcasting of each race proved popular and Johnny Park, form chart expert, proved an efficient announcer. One improvement could be made that would prove of great benefit to the fans. That would be to enlarge the size of the figures on the mutual board. They are far too small and the public has to get right in front of the board to clearly make out the figures.

Play opened Sunday in the annual city amateur golf championship and no upsets were seen in the qualifying round. All the big "shots" were successful in making the select group, although some of their scores were nothing to boast about. Norman Wallace, the medalist, was about the only one of the favorites to turn in two steady rounds, and even he was forced to take a nine on one hole. Colwood is a real championship course and sensational scores are few and far between in any championship. A number of the younger players from the various clubs have warning Sunday they are to be reckoned with in tournaments from now on. The first four places in the qualifying round were captured by youngsters still in their early twenties.

The tennis experts who are counting Johnny Doe out of the United States championship this season might do well to reconsider now on. The first four places in the qualifying round were captured by youngsters still in their early twenties.

Treacherous Links Place Many Stars On the Ragged Edge

Harrison Johnston, 1929 Champion, Phil Perkins and Cyrol Tolley Faced With Shooting Par Golf To-day in Order to Qualify in Tournament at Chicago; First Eighteen Holes of Qualifying Round Featured by Brilliant Play of Youngsters

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Rebuffed to a man by Beverly's veritable purgatory of traps and tree-lined fairways, America's first ranking amateurs sallied forth to-day over their second and final eighteen-hole qualifying journey in the United States amateur championship drive with the youngsters in front and at least a dozen of the advertised favorites hanging on the ragged edge.

Leading the field with the only 72 of the opening day skirmish was Jack Westland, Chicago district amateur champion, one shot behind him came twenty-year-old Gus Moreland, Dallas, Texas, who landed a 73, two over par.

SCHAAF USES LEFT HOOK TO K.O. CAMPOLO

Boston Heavyweight Puts Giant Argentine Down For Count in Seventh Round

Campolo Fails to Win a Round, Ernest Guhring, German Heavyweight, Wins

New York, Sept. 1.—Thanks to Ernie Schauf, the blond model from Boston, there is one less heavyweight title contender to-day.

Victorio Campolo, the giant Argentine who had hoped to follow the trail blazed by his countryman, Luis Angel Firpo, is the latest of the big boys to fall by the wayside. Schauf disposed of whatever titular ideas Campolo had yesterday evening, when he floored the towering South American for the count of ten in the seventh round of a scheduled twelve-round bout at Ebbets Field.

Although the defeat dropped him from the ranks of the important contenders, Campolo gave a crowd of only 15,000 a good show until Schauf sent him to the mat with a left hook to the chin. Before that deciding blow, Schauf had belted his larger opponent with a barrage of body blows—blows that finally brought Victorio down to where Ernie could connect with his left.

The Associated Press score sheet gave Schauf every round, with the exception of the first and fourth, which were even.

LEFT HOOK ENDS BOUT

Once the bell rang to start the seventh it was evident Schauf's body belts and cutting head punches had drained all but a little of the giant Argentine's strength. As they locked, Campolo slid out of Schauf's arms, sat dazed and wide-legged on the floor, and listened to the full count of ten.

Schauf weighed 205½, giving Campolo an advantage of almost twenty pounds.

Ernest Guhring, German heavyweight, outpointed Pat Redmond, huge Irishman who lasted almost a round with Primo Carnera, in a heavy eight-round semi-final staged after the main bout. What little fighting there was Guhring, weighing 204½ pounds, did with muscle and skill, failed to connect with a solid punch.

ALBIE DAVIES MEETS SANTOS IN MAIN BOUT

Victoria Lightweight in Six-round Go With California Star at Seattle

After a holiday of several weeks Albie Davies, Victoria's well-known lightweight, will make his return to the ring to-morrow evening in Seattle, when he steps into the ring against Sammy Santos, Los Angeles Filipino, in the main event of the card being offered at the Seattle Civic Auditorium. The match will be six rounds or less.

Many of the best boys on the coast, and a couple of weeks ago scored a clean-cut victory over Doc Snell, hard-hitting Whitey Island farmer. Snell, a veteran campaigner, was completely outclassed by the Californian, and for every blow he struck Santos came back with two. Santos is claimed to be a good man at either close range or stand off fighting.

Wes Ferrell Liab To Bat Himself Out Of Pitching Berth

Crack Hurler of Cleveland Indians Poles Two Home Runs and a Single to Help Defeat Chicago 15 to 5; May Be Given Regular Outfield Position; Hoyt Hurls Philadelphia to Win Over Boston; Washington Beats Yankees; New York Giants Take Pair From Boston by Close Scores.

Almost any day now, Wesley Ferrell is likely to discover that he has batted himself right out of his present job with the Cleveland Indians. With every passing week it becomes more apparent he never was cut out to be a pitcher.

Through yesterday's games Ferrell was hitting a rare .358, an average topped only by two American League players who have participated in as many games as he has this season. They were Al Simmons and Babe Ruth. Appearing in forty-seven games, many times as a pinch hitter, he has pounded eight home runs, six doubles and a triple.

Valuable as his hitting arm in the Cleveland cause, it would not be surprising to see the Indians shift him to a regular outfield post in order to get the daily benefits of his big bat. There are the shining examples of Babe Ruth and Lefty O'Doul, who inserted the mound for the more lucrative gardens. Ferrell would not require more than a passing glance of their salary cheques to convince him the change was for the better.

HITS TWO HOME RUNS

All of which is preable to the fact that Wes had one of his most spacious days yesterday. In addition to leading Chicago to six hits and registering his eighteenth victory, 15 to 5, he blasted opposing pitchers for two home runs and a single drove in two runs and himself scored four.

Waite Hoyt, the former "schooner" pitcher, pitched his second straight shutout as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 0. He yielded seven hits, Moore allowed only six, but one was a pinch single by Cramer in the seventh, and another was Jimmy Fox's two-run fourth home run.

Washington rallied to score four times in the sixth inning and twice in the seventh, knocking Herb Plessing from the hill and defeat the New York Yankees, 6 to 5. Lou Gehrig's thirty-eighth homer with three on in the fifth accounted for four Yankee runs. The Detroit Tigers, behind Earl Whittehill's six hit hurling, downed the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 3, in their last game. Dale Alexander drove in four of the winners runs with a double and single.

John McGraw's New York Giants had that little extra punch necessary to capture a pair of close ones from the Boston Braves, 3 to 2 and 4 to 3. The first, a duel between Freddie Fitzsimmons and Fred Frankhouse, went to the Giants when Frankhouse, who was steady and walked two men in the ninth. The nightcap went to the Braves before Mel Ott drove Bill Ferrey to the showers, and they defeated Mitchell in the ninth to tie the score.

"HACK" WILSON CAN GO, SAYS BILL WRIGLEY

Famous Owner of Chicago Cubs Says Outfielder Has Failed to Deliver

Decision Rests With Hornsby and Veck; Cubs Securing Much New Material

Chicago, Sept. 1.—As far as William Wilson, Jr. is concerned, Hack Wilson, who set a National League home run record of fifty-four home runs last season, may be sold or traded by the Cubs.

Whether the chubby outfielder will be sent away with President William L. Veck and Manager Rogers Hornsby. But that is the way Owner Wrigley of the local National League baseball team feels about it.

"I like Wilson personally," he said yesterday, "but he is not delivering and is no good to the club now. I appreciate what he did last season and the season before, but that doesn't help now. I want ball players who can deliver, when they fail I think they should go. I have thought Wilson should go, since I still think so."

Wrigley said there would be plenty of new faces next season and that no veteran's job would be as safe unless he outdistanced challengers for his position. Cub scouts are stalking young players in every minor league, and a big squad will go to Catalina next spring.

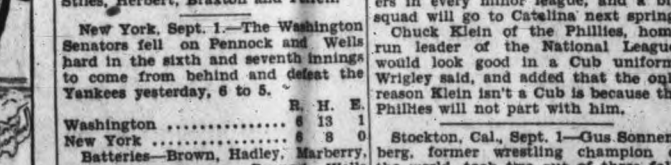

Chuck Klein of the Phillies, home run leader of the National League, would look good in a Cub uniform, Wrigley said, and added that the only reason Klein isn't a Cub is because the Phillies will not part with him.

"Dutch" Reuther Given Release

Portland, Sept. 1.—Walter "Dutch" Reuther, veteran pitcher, signed by the Portland Beavers a few weeks ago, has been released by the team, Thomas L. Turner, president, announced yesterday.

In the first game of a double-header Sunday with San Francisco, "Old Dutch" was pounded for five runs in the first inning.

Turner announced that Spencer Abbott, manager of the Beavers, has signed for another year.

Reuther, who declares he cannot keep himself in shape for major league ball, said he is well satisfied with his treatment he received at the Portland Club. He was taken on by the Beavers after his recent release by Seattle.

200 World's Leading Swimmers Entered For C.N.R. Race

George Young Said To Be "Right" For Fifteen-mile Grind

Famous Toronto Youth and Winner of Catalina Swim in 1926 Reported to Be in Fine Condition for Long Jaunt in Lake Ontario To-morrow; Margaret Ravior, Philadelphia, Winner of Women's Ten-mile Swim, May Swim Alongside Young; Marvin Nelson, Last Year's Winner, Figured Strong Contender

Canadian Press

Toronto, Sept. 1.—With 125 swimmers having already passed the necessary medical examination to qualify for the Canadian National Exhibition's fifteen-mile marathon to-morrow, and many more waiting to be examined to-day, prospects are that an entry of more than 200 of the world's greatest natators will take the plunge at start time.

To-day the swimmers are seeking the answer to a question: How warm will Lake Ontario's waters be to-morrow? On this question hung the hopes and aspirations of nearly every swimmer in the race. Unlike last Friday, when the water was cold yesterday, the lake front temperature today was 52 to 54 degrees. Wednesday the thermometer registered 72 degrees.

The swimmers are divided into two camps. There are those who are warm water swimmers, and those who are cold water swimmers. The former are the ones who will be in the race to-morrow. The latter are the ones who will be in the race to-morrow.

women's ten-mile swim, had announced she would swim alongside Young for some miles Wednesday, but yesterday evening it was stated an abscessed ear was giving her trouble, and that she may not start.

Many of the "experts" have over-looked Marvin Nelson, the Iowa kid who smashed home last year in first place. In 1929 the youngster collapsed just before the finish line. It seems hardly likely he will give up his laurels without a terrific battle.

But the race will not be a runaway for any swimmer. Ernst Vacke, German, who won the twenty-one-mile jaunt in 1927, will make anyone travel to catch him. Leader Sponder, Port Colborne, Mendel Burtin, Toronto; Bill Coll, New York; Sam Shields, Florida, and dozens of others have just as good a chance to win as anyone else.

Watching the Majors

Bill Terry of the Giants, last year's National League batting king, stood at the top of the heap again to-day after a long uphill fight. By slugging a double and four singles in nine times up against the Boston Braves yesterday, the star first-sacker jumped his season's average up to .347 and passed Virgil Davis, Phillie catcher, who was idle.

Babe Ruth failed to gain on Al Simmons, in the American League, when he did not connect in three attempts.

Softball Dance Will Be Held on Saturday Night

In an effort to secure funds to send the Jokers, Vancouver Island softball champions, to Vancouver for the B.C. play-off, the Westholme Softball League will stage a dance at the Colwood Hall on Saturday evening. Morgan's Musketiers will be in attendance, and dancing will commence at 8 o'clock. The first game of the B.C. play-off between the Jokers and the mainland champions will be staged here on Saturday.

ALL-STAR MAT CARD WILL BE OFFERED HERE

"Rocky" Brooks, Victoria Heavyweight, Meets Dan Koloff on Saturday

Demetral and Bickerton in Semi-windup; A. Anderson Wins Bout at Seattle

An all-star wrestling card will be offered at the Tillicum gymnasium on Saturday evening. In the eight ten-minute round main event "Rocky" Brooks, Victoria heavyweight, will be given the top place for the first time, being matched against Dan Koloff, famous New York strong man.

The fly-round semi-windup will bring together Bill Demetral, Chicago Greek, and Ernie Bickerton, Vancouver.

One of the leading men in the heavyweight ranks Koloff will be the toughest opponent Brooks has ever faced. Koloff has only been defeated by grapplers of such note as Sonnenberg and Lewis, so that "Rocky" is assured of a rough time. Yesterday evening in Seattle Koloff battled to a no-fall draw with Demetral.

The Demetral-Bickerton battle should also prove one of the best bouts seen here in recent months. The former is a tough opponent and has victories to his credit over a number of the leading heavyweights. Bickerton will be no set-up and should prove a capable opponent for the Chicagoan.

The first bout will commence at 8:45 o'clock.

Seattle, Sept. 1.—Axel Anderson, Chicago, 230 pounds, defeated Pat McKay, New York, 200 pounds, in a close battle in the fourth and fifth rounds of a wrestling exhibition here yesterday evening.

Anderson took the first fall with a body slam after McKay had applied a series of reverse headlocks. In the fifth round McKay crawled into the ring only to be tossed again with a body slam.

Abe Kaplan, New York, 235 pounds, was defeated by Martin Plesitina, New York, 255 pounds. Plesitina took the first fall in the third round and Kaplan failed to come back.

In a one-fall bout, Joe Reynolds, Salt Lake City, 155 pounds, lost to Jack Ganson, Boston, 197 pounds, when Ganson put him down in the second round with a flying head scissor.

Dan Koloff, New York, 230 pounds, and Bill Demetral, Chicago, 200 pounds, drew. There were no falls.

FOX FARMERS ASK PROVINCE FOR ASSISTANCE

Delegation of Fur Producers to Interview Cabinet, W. M. Higgs Reports

Experimental Farm in B.C. and Demonstration Farm in England Are Now Needed

The semi-annual meeting of the British Columbia Fox and Fur Farmers' Association was held in Vancouver on Friday evening last. The chair was taken by W. Miller Higgs, president, and a very representative gathering assembled.

Mr. Higgs regretted that little progress had been made towards securing the financial backing of the provincial government for the fur-farming industry of the province. Dominion statistics showed the value of stock and equipment in British Columbia ranked second among all the provinces of Canada.

Mr. Higgs said the United Fur Farmers' Council of British Columbia had been promised a definite hearing by the provincial government within the next few weeks. He hoped that it would not be long before definite progress could be made.

Mr. Higgs paid a tribute to the work of V. A. Bourne, secretary of the association, for having successfully contested the proposed duty on woven wire imported from Great Britain. The proposed tax would have worked a serious hardship upon all fur farmers.

GAME COMMISSIONER Bryan Williams, game commissioner, said he was fully alive to the needs of the fur farmer and had one all in his power to get them provincial assistance. It was only on account of the present financial difficulties that help had not been forthcoming. He promised to continue to work in the interests of the fur farmer of British Columbia.

D. S. Pallen, Burnaby, spoke of the need for an experimental farm in British Columbia, where all kinds of fur-bearing animals could be kept which could be studied and where reliable methods of feeding and handling statistics could be kept for the guidance of those entering the business of fur farming. Such a farm could be made to pay its own cost of establishment and maintenance, he said.

It was suggested that establishment of a demonstration farm of British Columbia's fur farm animals would be a great asset if established near London, England. Fur farming was being taken up more and more by the people of the British Isles.

The chairman stated that the two suggestions would be placed before the provincial government and Mr. Jenkin.

Favorites Capture Six Out of Seven At Willows Track

Public Choices Enjoy Gala Time at Second Day's Racing at Five Eights Oval; Jenkins Brings Tetroy Home in Third for Only Long Shot of Afternoon; Pays $76.65 cross the Board; Jockey Mills Has Three Winners and Two Seconds; Daily Double Returns $210.95

Punters had a tough day yesterday at the Willows race-track with public choices and second favorites getting down in six out of the seven races. The bang-tails ran true to form on one exception, and that was seen in the third race when General F. A. Sutton's Tetroy, with Jenkins up, romped home to return $46.25 for a $2 duet on his nose. Tetroy paid off $76.65 across the board.

One of the features of the afternoon's card was the fine exhibition of riding turned in by young Jockey Mills, who carried off the riding honors on the mainland tracks. Mills brought home three winners, being aboard Lord Goldstream in the first Harry B. Bell in the fifth and Gaderine in the sixth. He also had two second-place mounts, Idella in the second and Vittoria in the third. The remainder of the winning mounts were divided between Craigie, Jenkins, Kelly and Spori.

DOUBLE PAYS $210.95 The daily double paid off in handsome figures yesterday, the winning combination of Lady Spain in the second and Tetroy in the third paying off at $210.95 for a $2 pastebord.

After laying back with the field in the early running Prince Goldstream came through on the inside entering the stretch to capture first money in the opening event. Pa's Pride was also a late challenger and managed to capture second money. Flying Somers, a rank outsider, managed to get in the show money and returned $18.65.

Evelyn May and Jack Beaman led the field for the half but both tired badly.

The second saw Lady Spain finish strongly down the centre of the track to catch the string Idella in the final drive. Missive was always up with the pace setters and managed to save the show money.

Going into the lead when Vittoria went wide on the turn into the back stretch, Tetroy, a rank outsider, surprised wise ones in the third. Vittoria hung on gamely and tried hard to get up in the stretch, but had to be satisfied with second money. Skoll closed a lot of ground in the last eighth to catch Craigie Magberry.

A CLOSE FINISH In the closest finish of the day, Jockey Kelly piloted home Ruth Parson's Piracy in the fourth, a five and one-half furlong event for two-year-olds. Batted back in third place until the stretch, Piracy came along fast and just managed to take the decision from King Han by a nose. Primrose Day was always the third best.

Harry B. Bell, heavily-backed favorite, walked home in the fifth over a mile. Allowing Purty Elliot to set the early pace the winner took the lead at the half-way mark and won as he pleased. Crossbow hung on gamely to take third money.

Gaderine was easily the pick of the field in the sixth. Going into a three-length lead at the start, the winner made every yard of winning place until Money and On the Job came on fast in the stretch to take second and third money respectively. On the Job was pinned.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Pathetic Example of a Girl Who Fell In Love With a Married Man

DEAR MISS DIX—I fell in love with a married man and you know the rest. He told me that his wife had never understood him and that he was unhappy at home, but that she refused to divorce him, and I felt that I was doing a noble and altruistic deed in consoling him. But while I adore this man to whom I have given myself body and soul, I am miserable. Life has lost its flavor. My health and my self-respect are gone. I am tired of all the pretence. Tired of lying and subterfuge. Tired of waiting for a good wife to die so I can take her place. Also, I can see that my friend is losing interest in me and becoming interested in another woman. Now I want to wipe off the slate and begin all over again. How can I cure myself? How can I forget this man whom I have loved as I can never love any other man?

There is a man who believes me the most wonderful, conscientious, old-fashioned girl. I am ever lived, who wants to marry me. He is clean and ambitious and well thought of and would make me a fine husband, but while I have a strong affection for him it is not love. I can never love again. Tell me how I can forget. How can I undo the past and regain my self-respect?

Answer—I print this letter because it is not only one of the most pathetic human documents I have ever read, but because it preaches a sermon far more powerful and heart-searching than I can about the folly of girls having love affairs with married men.

It is a very familiar story that Esther tells. One that has its counterpart in countless offices. There are thousands upon thousands of pretty young girls situated as Esther was, subjected to the same temptations, working side by side with a handsome and fascinating young man who appealed to their sympathies by telling of his unhappy home life and how his wife did not appreciate him and how he hungered for love and sympathy.

And hundreds and hundreds of young girls, moved by their generosity and their pity and their womanly desire to comfort and succor every hurt feeling; moved by what is finest and best in their natures, have felt, as Esther did, that there was something so beautiful and altruistic in making such a man happy that it atoned for the sin that they committed in transgressing the laws of God and man.

But I hope that these sorely tempted girls will read Esther's letter through, not once but a dozen times, before they yield to the voice of the charmer. For it shows the stark tragedy of the affair for the woman and how it is bound to end in her losing out.

Health gone. Nerves gone. Self-respect gone. Purity gone. Everything gone but a hopeless passion for a man who is also going. What a price to pay for infatuation!

I often wonder that girls, modern, sophisticated girls, and especially business girls who should know enough about the cost of things to figure out their worth, never sit down and try to analyze the married-lover proposition and see where they come out on it. Of course, if they are gold-diggers and the man has money, they can get some pretty clothes and jewelry and good times out of him, but often the man has little or no money left when he is done supporting his family and the girl isn't on the make, anyway.

First, there is the man to consider. He has a sad, sad story to tell about his estrangement from his wife. She doesn't understand him. She doesn't sympathize with him. He is desperately unhappy, so he tells the girl, but he is not so unhappy that he wants to get a divorce from her or break up his home. Seems as if any girl who has the brains of a moron, would think that a pretty weak story. Because men don't bear suffering patiently and when a man is really unhappy with his wife and when he really loves another woman, he can't get to the divorce court quickly enough.

The truth is the man only wants to do a little philandering on the side and nothing could induce him to apply for a divorce because his wife protects him against the other women with whom he has love affairs.

Of course, the girl is a goose who listens to the love-making of a married man and possibly she deserves all she gets, but under heaven there is no other man in the world who is so despicable and such a cad as the one who deliberately sets to work to win a girl's heart and fill it so full of love for him that there will never be room in it for any other man; who soils and breaks her life and who stands in the way of her ever marrying a decent man or being happy with him if she does.

Well, may a girl ask herself what she gets out of such an affair. Hopeless waiting for something that never happens, the hopeless waiting that makes the heart sick. A romance that is dragged in the dust of sordid hotel-and-corner meetings or else brazenly flaunts itself as a liaison among the decadent. Leering looks from other men who feel her fair game for their insults. The cold glances of women who see another woman bearing the name that should be hers. Sharing the honors of the man she loves. Spending the money she helps him earn.

And if she does finally break away and marry another man, always the black fear in her heart that he will discover the secret she is hiding from him. Or, if she tells him, the shame of having him taunt her in moments of anger with being damaged goods.

And if she doesn't marry, sooner or later comes the day when her married lover forsakes her. For the man who has been unfaithful to one woman will be faithless to another and the philanderer is always on the lookout for younger and prettier and fresher faces.

What price a love affair with a married man? Ask Esther. She paid it. DOROTHY DIX.

Our "Ferris Wheel" Universe

Last Saturday our story, "Into the Depths of Space," came to an end. The final sentence of the story read:

Section of Milky Way, as seen from Australia.

"In the thump of their landing, we must awaken from our dream story and come back to the present day." Perhaps you were a bit sorry to end that excursion to the strange planets which was described. Perhaps you longed to know what wonders would really be known after eleven centuries have rolled around. We can guess what those wonders will be, but we cannot be certain.

New marvels will come to the earth as time rolls onward, but the present time is filled with wonders. Think, for example, of what we already know about the distant planets and stars! On a clear night (best of all on a night when there is no moon) we may look upward and see a band of light across the sky, the great sight known as the Milky Way. Here and there in the Milky Way, we see bright stars; but most of it appears like a milk-colored mist. By the use of telescopes, we find that the "mist" is made up largely of distant stars, of millions and thousands of them. Some of the stars are white. Others are yellow. Still others are reddish, orange and bluish.

Most astronomers believe that our universe is in the shape of a gigantic wheel—we might say a Ferris wheel. Fancy a Ferris wheel with electric lights (standing for stars) placed all through it, each light just two or three inches from its neighboring lights. Suppose you find a place at the middle of the axis of the wheel. If you look in any direction you will see lights; but they will seem most thick if you look upward or outward.

If we could make the Ferris wheel trillions of miles in diameter, we should have a fairly good model of the universe.

Many of the stars in the Milky Way are larger than the sun. They seem small and faint because they are so far away.

A person looking at the sky from a place south of the equator—from Australia, for example—obtains a better view of the Milky Way than we can obtain from this region. The Milky Way appears much brighter to the Australian.

Interesting Details of C.N.S. Operations Told

Writer in Winnipeg Tribune Defends Canadian National Steamships and Tells Something of the Handicaps Under Which They Operated; Private Interests Would Like to Take Over Routes and Get Subsidies

The following article recently appeared on the editorial pages of The Manitoba Free Press of Winnipeg, written by a special correspondent, and will be of especial interest to Victorians:

"In fairness to the Canadian people it should be pointed out that certain members of Parliament, who were accused on the floor of the House of promoting private interest rather than the public, made rather unsubstantiated statements of the fabulous losses sustained by the Canadian Government in the operation of a fleet of vessels.

"Speaking with a long personal experience in the transportation business, and having followed with interest the activities of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, I would like to bring prominently before the public certain figures gleaned from the annual reports of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine which place an entirely different picture before us than that given out on the floor of the House of Commons.

"It must be first borne in mind that the Canadian Government Merchant Marine fleet was built as a war measure at war prices, and that when it was decided to put the vessels into commercial operation, the government should have at that time written off, as private companies did, at least fifty per cent of the value of the sixty-six steamers then in service. The government also should not have overlooked that the vessels comprising the Canadian Government Merchant Marine fleet at its inception, which were the most modern and the best of their kind in inland waters and the best of them were never an economical proposition.

HAS SERVED WELL

"This fleet which has been recently operated under the management of the Canadian National Steamships, has been used at various times not only for the development of trade with countries where private lines were not operating, but also for the carrying of surplus Canadian produce at rates unattractive to private owners, but to greater advantage of the farmer and manufacturer. It would, therefore, appear to the layman that this fleet has served Canada exceptionally well under the circumstances, and it, therefore, seems scarcely fair to place the onus of responsibility for these deficits on the shoulders of the government.

"Viewing the situation from an operating company's standpoint, one learns from the figures before us that since the inauguration of the fleet in 1919, there has been a surplus of operating expenses, and that the net operating loss for a period of twelve years totals approximately $250,000. From this sum one might rightly deduct the surplus shown in the Consolidated Balance as at December 31, 1930, under the item Insurance Fund, amounting to $547,000, which sum has accrued to the benefit of the steamship company from the careful operation of the fleet. Therefore, the net operating loss amounts to $670,000 for a period of twelve years, or an average of approximately $55,833 per annum.

"True, in these hard times, the country can well afford to save $500,000, but before scrapping a whole fleet of ships costing millions of dollars, it is only reasonable to consider the expenses which will necessarily be called upon to operate the services. There is no question that the operation of the fleet will dispose, when opportunity offers, of certain obsolete and surplus tonnage which costs approximately $1,000 per month per ship to lay up. The report shows there are now fourteen ships which can be disposed of if it will show a further saving of $150,000 per annum, or reduce the operating loss per annum to $520,000.

EXPECT SUBSIDY

This would amount to $360,000 per annum, to which must be added the subsidy paid the Southern American service of $120,000, or a total of $480,000. What subsidy would be asked for the intercoastal service is problematical.
